

6516206314.txt

I think the FCC or the government should not force satellite radio stop broadcasting traffic and weather channels because they are the only ones who report this information in a timely fashion. Consumers should have a choice. We don't need more commercials. We need good competition.

-Dan